WHAT IS 5000 ROLE MODELS?

By Alinor Mezinord

The 5000 Role Models of Excellence seem to be taking Edison by storm while living out founder Dr. Fredericka Wilson’s vision with the guide of program leader Mr. Jones. 5000 Role Models is expected to see group numbers as high as 300. The young gentlemen of 5000 role models give back to the community by participating in civic engagement projects.

The senior members of this prestigious society have received their scholarship applications that grant approximately $1500 per semester. In order to receive this scholarship the members are required to write two 250 word essays on topics about how 5000 Role Models has impacted their lives and why they should be chosen; and write a 5000 word essay on what they would do with the scholarship and how it will benefit them. The young men of 5000 Role Models are always dressed to impress with their ironed white dress shirts, neat black pants, and black church shoes. The 5000 Role Models are so excellent that the Miami Edison Fashion Club members would like to use some young men for their show cases. Plenty events lay in the future of these Role Models including the sacred tie ceremony.

DIGGS DASHBOARD

“I am a firm believer that the way we prepare and practice is the way we ultimately PERFORM. As a result, one of my missions as principal of MESH is to provide our students with exposure and options so that when they exit the doors of Edison and enter into the doors of the ‘real world,’ they are ‘the captain of their fate and masters of their soul,’ with regard to college, career, and choices.” - Principal Diggs

Being a Peer Leader

This past summer 30 students went to Florida Athletic University for training. The four days of training focused on the students journey to college. Another focus was the obstacles and challenges that students faced going to college.

The college summit peer leader training offered an opportunity for these students to gain the knowledge and skills necessary to become peer leaders.

College Summit Peer Leaders provide scholarship information, help with the college application process, provide information such as ACT, SAT and other test registration deadlines and dates. Additionally, the college summit peer leaders plan on holding workshops to help students develop their resumes, cover letters, personal statements and college essays.
